()' woman, lovely woman, why will you suffer so, why bear such pain and anguish, and agony of wee?

Why don't you seek the remedy—the one that's all the go?

"All the go," because it makes the paining go. As an invigorating, restorative tonic, soothing cordial and bracing nervine, for debilitated and feeble women generally. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has no equal. It improves digestion, invigorates the system, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, produces refreshing sleep, dispels melancholy and nervounces, and builds up both the flesh and strength of those reduced below a healthy standard. Don't be put off with some worthless compound, easily, but dishosestly, recommended to be "just as good," that the dealer may make more profit. [Favorite Prescription" is incomparable. [Tuffew]

STAND YOUR GROUND. When you make up your mind to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy some other preparation inatead. Clerks may claim that "ours is as good as Hood's" and all that, but the peculiar merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla cannot be squalted. Therefore have nothing to do with substitutes and insist upon having Hood's Sarsaparilla, the best blood purifier and building-up machine.

BEHRING SEA CONTROVERSY.

Secretary Blaine's Last Note is Reply Made Public.

He Makes Several Points of Considerable Importance.:

Washington, May 7. The following note in addition to the corresponderce al-ready passed in relation to the Behring Sea controversy is made public from Mr.

I the third and fifth in such a manner, it boped, as will result in an agreement tween the two governments. While Lord Salisbury suggests a different mode of procedure from that subod-led in the sixth question, the President does not understand him actually to object to the question, and he therefore assume:

The Six Opestions as now proposed by the President are as

First-What exclusive jurisdiction in the sea now known as Behring sea and what exclusive rights in seal fisheries therein did Russia assert and exercise prior and up to the time of the cossion of Alaska to the United States. p to the time of the cossion of Abaska to Possess.
The government of the United States Second—How far were these claims of has steadily held just the Second—How far were these claims of jurisdiction as to the seal fasheries recognized and conceded by Great Britan of Third—Was the body of water now known as Bearing sea included, in the phrase "Pacific ocean" as used in the treaty of 1825 between Great Britain and Russia; what rights, if any, in the Behring sea were held and Russia; what rights, if any, in the Behring sea were held and

Exclusively Exercised

· Russia after said treaty. Fourth—Did not all the rights of Russia to jurisdiction and as to seal fisheries in Beliving Sea, east of the water boundary lescribed in the treaty between the United States and Russin of March 30, 1867, pass unimpaired to the United States under that

States and Russia of March 30, 1867, pass unimpaired to the United States under that treaty?

Fifth—Has the United States any right, if so, what right of protection or property in fur seals frequenting the islands of the United States in Behring Sea, when such seals are found outside the ordinary three mile limit?

Sovereighty Over the Land and waters of Alaska.

England recognized this property interests as far as recognition is implied, by ability of Alaska, and during the first nine-time of the sovereignty of the United States.

Sixth-If a determination of the fore-going shall leave the subject in such a posi-tion that the concurrence of Great Britain is necessary a prescribing regulations for Killing For Seal

In any part of the waters of Rehving Sea, then it shall be further determined:

First—How far, if at all, outside of the ordinary territorial hims it is mecessary the United States should exercise dvaluative jurisdiction in order to protect seal for the time itving upon the islands of the United States and feeding therefrom?

Second—Whether the closed season (during which the killing of seals in the waters of Rehving Sea outside the ordinary territorial limits shall be prohibited) is necessary to save the seal itshing industry, so vaniable and important to mankind, from deterioration or destruction, and is so, Third—What months or parts of months Third-What months or parts of months

The President does not object to the ada ne rrestaent does not object to the additional question respecting the alleged damages to English ships, proposed by Lord Salishary, if one condition can be added, namely: That after the issues of arbitration are joined, if the United States shall prevail, all the seals taken by Canadan vessels during that period shall be shall prevail, all the seals taken by Canadian vessels during that period shall be paid for at the ordinary price for which akine are sold.

This seems to the President to be the complement of Lord Sali-bury's proposition.

In the first paragraph of of February 21, he makes the following "It is now quite clear that the advisers

"It is now quite clear that the advisers of the President do,not chaim the Behring Sea as mare clasum and, indeed, they repudiate that contention in express terms."

Lord Salisbury's expression is put in such a form as to imply that the I nited states has hitherto been resting its contention upon the fact that the Behring Sea was mare classum. It that is his contentention it would have been well for His Lordship to specify wherein the United States ever made the assertion.

The emphatic denial in my dispatch of December 17 last is intended to yut an end to the iteration of the charge and eliminate to the iteration of the charge and climina it from the current discussion Lord Salisbury Completes

Lord Salisbury Complains that I did not deal with certain protests, written by Lord Londonderry and the Puke of Wellington in 1822, which he has before quoted. If he will recur to the 26th and 27th pages of my despatch of December 17th, he will observe that I specially dealt with these. I maintained and I think proved from the text that there was not a single word in those protests referring to the Behring sea, but they referred, in the language of the Duke of Wellington of the 17th of October, 1822, only to the lands
"extending along the stores of the Pacific occan from lat. 46 degrees to lat. 60 degrees north."

and navigation of His Imperia, Maj 27 8 subjects in the seas adjacent thartto."

From these and other pertinent facts it is evident the profess of Lord London-derry and the Duke of Wellington had nothing whatever to do with the points now in issue between the American and British governments concerning the waters of Behring Sea. They both referred, in different but substantially, identical phrases, to the territory of the North Alaskan peninsular bordering on the Pacific and from the Behring sea. I regret my arguments on the point Lord Salishury considered of great importance should have escaped his tordship's notice.

In Lord Salishury's judgment the contention of the United States now rests wholly upon the Ukase of 1816 by Emperor Alexander of Russia. The United States has at no time rested its argument solely on the ground mentioned and this government regrets Lord Salishury should no have misapprehended the American position as to limit its basis of right in Behring sen to the Ukase of 1821.

The United States has among other grounds, insisted without recurring to any of its inherited and superior rights in Alasks, that this government has as full authority for going beyond the

Yesterday, about eleven A. W., as a special train from this city was crossing Bridge street, at Sullwater, the carriage occupied by Mr. and Mrs. George W. Oriffin was struck by the train with conskierable force. Mr. Griffin was thrown into the canal and Mrs. Oriffin fell upon the top of one of the fist cars. Fortunate ly the only injuries received by them were mises, but it was a narrow escape from something more serious. They had just crossed the bridge when the accident occurred, and did not hear the train owing to the roaring of the water. The horse was considerably hurt and the carriage was smashed to pieces.

GIN IN DAIRY FARMING. Profitable Returns Are Generally so Meager That Great Care Should Be Used in Selecting Only the Best Animale—Succesa Dependa en Manure. The need of better cows for the dairy is coming to be very general y appreciated. The dairy commissioner of Jowa is reported as saying that the average cow in that state gives but 3,000 pounds of milk annually, while good ones yield from 5,000 to 6,000 pounds. The director of the Vermont station states that the average yield per cow in that state is only about 190 pounds of butter per anatim, while there are thirty dairies in the state that average over 500 pounds per cow.

pounds of butter per anatim, while there are thirty dairies in the state that average over 300 pounds per cow.

The director of the New York station asys. "New York has 1,500,000 mileh cows, probably producing, on an average, less than 3,000 pounds of milk per year, and the naminal average butter product per cow for the state is undoustedly less than 130 pounds. This should not be, when there are whole herds averaging 300 and some 400, pounds of butter per year for each oow. Animals producing these by no means phenomenal yields are not confined to any particular breed, and are often grades of our so called native or no breed animals. Proper selection, systematic breeding and judicious feeding have produced these profitable animals and berds."

The difference in the milk producing qualities of different coys is brought out very clearly by a series of experiments conducted at the Massachuseits State states, of which Professor C. A. Gorsmann is director. They are especially interesting, because the cows and their feed and care were such as are found on the better farms of Massachusetts, and the results, obtained with the appliances of a well sympped experiment station, show in accurate and full detail the elements of actual profit and loss as they could not be ound in ordinary farm experience.

EXPERIMENTS IN MASSACHUSETTE.

dual in ordinary farm experience EXPERIMENTS IN MASSACHUSETTE

These experiments have been made with weive cows, and have continued over five years. Grade Jersey, Ayrshire, Devon, Durham and Dutch and native cows were used. They were secured for the experiments a few days after calving, and fed into the daily yield fell below five or six quarts when they were sold to the butch or The length of the feeting period—4 e, duration of the experiment withleach cow—varled from 261 to 599 days. The following is a recapitulation of the financial record of the cows. The milk was reckoned at the price paid for it at the meighboring creameries. The value of the manure produced is calculated by assuming that of the total amount of food 20 per cent would be sold with the milk and the remaining 30 per cent saved as manure. As farmers in the region buy commer call fertilizers for the sake of their nitrogen, phosphoric acid and porash, it was as sumed that these sums ingredients would be worth about as much, pound for pound, in the manure as an the better class of feiriblers and accordingly the value of the manure was compited by taking the urirogen as worth 10½ cents, phosphoric acid ax cents, and poussh 4½ cents, per pound. This return for feed consumed represents what the feeder receives for labor, housing of cattle interest of capital thrested, risk of loss of animals, etc.

It is noticeable that the profit or loss did net depend upon either the breed or the length of the feeding period. The most profitable cow, and the least profitable but one, were both of the same breed. Of the two most profitable cows, one was fed for 584 days and the other for only 276 days. Two things, then, are brought out very clearly by these experiments. One is that in such localities as this the value of the manure goes far to decide the profit in feeding dairy cattle. Another is that cows which would ordinarily pass for good ones may differ widely in product.

To the practical dairyman these experiments teach clearly the difference between ments teach clearly the difference between cows which are profitable and those which are not and the importance of selecting the best cows for his dairy and getting rid of the poor ones. In a larger sense they illustrate to every farmer the importance of knowing accurately the condition of his business. Upon this its success or failure largely depends.—Farmers' Bulletin No 2, United States Department of Agriculture ments teach clearly the difference bet
